01. Reconstruction of the operational process of the department

Pension Payment Process which the main operational process of the DoP and related sub processes were reconstructed during the year 2016. Revolutionary process development was made with the combination of modern information technology going beyond the boundaries of the traditional government service. IT Unit of the DoP had marked number of turning points, updating their working environment with the modern technological process developments day by day under the guidance of Sri Lanka Information Technology Institute, Internship trainees and experienced IT expertise.

Develop a software solution for the registration process of government employees in the W&OP was made under the first stage of the Pension Management System. Registering the government institutes was done since the arrangements are being conducted combining government institutes more than 4000 which joined online and 3260 of users from 2121 of Government Institutes were registered on the date of 2016.12.31. Also 29613 of Government employees have applied for W&OP online registration and around 25106 of applicants are already registered via this method except the said the operation to develop the complete data system of those who entitled for pension is implemented by preparing IT

Combined online payment system was developed with the collaboration of Postal Department in order to reduce the cost spent and facilitate the pension payment process of pensioners who obtain their pension from Post office administratively.

Although, the pension payments were initiated to issue via the central data system during the year 2015, all payments made through the post offices and divisional banks were issued through the cheques via decentralized Divisional Secretariats. Online payment system was developed in order to reduce the administrative difficulties and cost spent.

Accordingly, the postal payments were made reasonably via easy administrative ways through centralized data system centralizing and approximately Rs.500,000 was able to save for the Government.

Further, registration of online pension entitlement was launched under the second phase of the pension management system on 2016.10.08 on the National Pensioners' Day Celebrations under the patronage of Minister of Public Administration.

As a result of the above, arrears payments of 9,670 applications was able to finish out the application of 14,998 which received from 2016 March to 2016.12.31.

13. Financial Review

Financial allocations for pension gratuity payments and monthly pension beneficiary payments which is the prioritized project which facilitate the social security of the retired government officers are made by the annual budget. Grants have been facilitated for pension gratuity payable for ones, payments of monthly pension, railway warrants of pensioners, salary payments of deceased or disabled army and police officers in tri forces, managing the payments process and administration. The amount allocated annually is equal for the One point eight percent 1.8% out of national gross Local production and approximately 12% of total income of the country. Government does not receive any direct economical beneficiary although the amount spent for pension payments has become cost of expenditure to the government. Since providing the social beneficiary to the pensioners who rendered their service dedicating the their labor more than 30 years for the development of the country is a responsibility of the government, providing allocations for the pension payments are being continuously made by the Government.

When consider the trend of pensioners, continues development could be possible to seen in the pensioner population adding the new pensioner amount of 20,000. although the deceased number of pensioners are taken a lesser number as 1200, more than 700 out of the said are having the entitlement for W&OP. Since the entitlement is shifted to the widows, orphans and disabled children even the pensioners have deceased, continuous reduction is impossible to expect instead it's opposite.

13.1 Payments of Pension Gratuity

Every retired government officer is entitled for gratuity equal for 24 months based on the last salary received and service duration. Nearly 1000 million is spent for the gratuity payments for the pensioners who are retired nearly 2000. since the 2013 December the said amount has been provided by the General Treasury. Although, the General Treasury has not provided the finance for pension gratitude payments since 2014, gratuity is today paid by the circuit loans provided via three (03) government banks. Accordingly the provided circuit loan amount is Rs.32,322 million for the gratuity payments from 2014 to 2016. this loan facility has been provided under the changeable interest rates. Settlement of the loan is made during the 18 years since the date of issuance. Grants have been arranged by the annual estimation for the payments of monthly installments and interest of the loan. Double interest of the loan is paid to the bank as monthly interest. Gradual increase of the loan and interest could be observed. When comparing the increase of the loan with year 2015 it is nearly 36%. The reason for this development is increasing is the gratuity amount payable with the amendment made to the basic salary of government employees as per the circular 03/2016. this will be valued more than 5% in the year 2017. since it will be 107% when comparing the total increase with the year 2016, large amount had to be spent as interest due to the increasing amount of loan obtained for gratitude payments comparatively with 2016.
